SCHNEID, Otto, Professor, Dr.—Painter, sculptor, dramatist, author of books on prehistoric, Greek, Chinese and Jewish art. Traditionalist and innovator. Born in Czechoslovakia from parents of Polish origin.

PROFESSOR DR. OTTO SCHNEID

Studied in Vienna, Art History, Philosophy and Aesthetics, completed his studies in Paris. In 1939 he moved to Israel and taught 1948-60 Art History at the Israel Institute of Technology, Haifa. Then he abandoned research and teaching, to devote all of his time to creative work. In a series of one-man shows in Europe and America he exhibited compositions, landscapes, portraits, interiors and personally conceived biblical motifs, in oil, pastel, bronze and stone. His main tendency is humanism. He never deforms, but strives for greater form and deeper expression of reality. In 1962 he arrived at two innovations. One is his Turnable Paintings in which Up and Down, gravitation and conventional perspective are abolished. The other, his "Opticism," is a revised artistic record of our process of seeing; it introduces into the apperception of the objects the "directly seen" apperceiving subject. Came to U.S.A., 1960, since 1963 in Canada. Works in Pitti Palace, Florence; Roosevelt Memorial, Hyde Park; Everhart Museum, Scranton, Pa.; Museum Skopje, Yugoslavia; Albertina Museum, Vienna; British Museum, London; Important private collections. There are several publications about Schneid's Art. Married Miriam Goldshmid (sculptor and writer); has two sons. Residence: 48 Laurelcrest Ave., Downsview, Ont.

ALBERT P. GAGNEBIN, B.Sc., M.Sc.

GAGNEBIN, Albert P., B.Sc., M.Sc. — President, Director and Member of the Executive Committee, The International Nickel Company of Canada, Limited, Toronto-Dominion Centre, Toronto 1, Ont., and its United States subsidiary, The International Nickel Company, Inc., 67 Wall Street, New York, N.Y., 10005. Director: The Toronto-Dominion Bank, Toronto; Centennial Insurance Company; Sterling Forest (N.Y.) Board of Design; The American Committee for the Institute for Advanced Study-Europe, Inc.; Abex Corporation; Yale Engineering Association; Albert Gallatin Associates of New York University; Canadian Export Association; and the International Copper Research Association, Inc.; Councillor of the French Chamber of Commerce in the United States, Inc.; Vice-President and Director of the Tokyo Nickel Company Limited; Trustee of the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company. Born in Torrington, Connecticut, January 23, 1909. Educated: Yale University (Bachelor of Science degree in mechanical engineering from Yale University, 1930; Master of Science degree in metallurgy in 1932, also from Yale). Association with International Nickel dates from the summer of 1930, when he held a summer position at its Huntington Works in West Virginia. After completion of graduate studies in metallurgy at Yale University in 1932, joined the staff of the Research Laboratory of The International Nickel Company, Inc., at Bayonne, New Jersey, engaging in ferrous metals research. In 1949 transferred to the company's New York office to establish a group for the commercial development of ductile iron of which he was a co-inventor. In 1955, appointed Assistant Manager of the Nickel Sales Department, becoming Manager, 1956. Elected Assistant Vice-President of The International Nickel Company, Inc., 1957 and Vice-President, 1958. Became Vice-President of the parent company, 1960; Executive Vice-President, 1964; Director, 1965 and President, 1967. While on the staff of the Bayonne Laboratory, was concerned with research into factors influencing the toughness of steels at sub-zero temperatures; the effect of deoxidation treatments on the mechanical properties of cast steels and many studies on cast irons. Over a period of years, was associated with others in fundamental studies on the solidification characteristics of iron which eventually led to the discovery of a process for making ductile iron. In May 1952, together with an International Nickel associate was awarded the Peter L. Simpson Gold Medal award of the American Foundrymen's Society for "outstanding work and development in the field of spheroidal cast iron." In July 1965, was co-recipient of the Annual Award of the Ductile Iron Society "for outstanding contribution to the ductile iron industry and its technology in the field of technical contribution and industry leadership." In Oct. 1967, was presented with the Grande Medaille d'Honneur of L'Association Technique de Fonderie at the 34th International Foundry Congress. The medal, established in 1932, has only been awarded eight times. Hon.
